“ Greg was an amazing man and a great friend. He understood what truly mattered in life, that being family, friends, love and Rock N Roll! If a friend asked for his help in anything he was always available and never complained. On a more personal note; I regret I didn't see him much since I moved back to the area in 1997, however I always knew that I had an unwavering friend in Belvidere. His memories and the stories I have told, have always elicited smiles and laughter.
