“ I hadn't connected with Brent in years...however, our time together in the band Spoonful in our high school and college years are deeply cherished. They were some of the best times of my entire life. I will always remember Brent as I knew him then. Hilarious, kind, hard working, always down, and ambitious about our music.

“ I've loved Brent his whole life. As a young boy his desire to play music drew him to me as a musical mentor and supporter. Brent's interest also parallel mine as an audio engineer he and exchanged industry war stories about the audio world. He was an amazing drummer but mostly Brent was an honest and loyal friend. I'll miss you for a season my friend, but tune up your drums in Heaven because when I get there we're going jam!
