“ We have known Jody for many years. I know she will be missed by many of us. God took the pain from you and brought you home with his angels. I have many memories that I will cherish and lots of wonderful stories I will share with the kids when I see them to keep your memory alive. I pray that God keep his loving arms wrapped around your whole family and give them the strength to carry on. You fought a tough battle with grace. You will always be in our hearts. “ I remember the first time I met Jody she was so shy and timid and as kind hearted as she could be. She would give the shirt off her back to help someone. I've been friends with Jodi for so many years that it seems like a lifetime, which I imagine it was. My heart goes out to Allison,Austin,Abbie,Nick and Zach , There are absolutely no words that I can say that will take what their feeling right now away. She lived for her children and still does now within their hearts and watches over them as they sleep. For she is their guardian angel now and forever will be! I pray that God will bless all of them family and friends included, and send his protective Guardian Angels down from heaven and put a protective shield over all of them as they continue throughout the rest of there lives until one day they are reunited again with their Mother and Father. God bless you Karen and Robert I am so sorry for the loss of your Daughter. I dedicate the song, by Carrie Underwood, [I'll See You Again This is not where it ends I'll carry you with me until I see you again!!!!] I love you Jodi and I'm thankful to God that your no longer suffering and in pain. Love Always and Forever, Your True Friend, Elizabeth-Bubba!

“ My heart breaks for my sister and her family. The greatest pain a mother will ever feel is the loss of a child. So sad to have another missing link from our family chain. I wish I could wrap my arms around Jody's children and take away their pain. God bless all.

“ Words cannot express how hard was to see you suffer. We are so very sad we had to see you go, but find comfort that you are no longer in pain. I have shared your story with others and have seen how your story has touched others and helped another take the steps she needs to with her her diagnosis after your story showed her how fragile life can be. Rest in Paradise Jody. Well will keep you forever in our hearts, Jamie & Jared Holmes
