“ So very Sorry for your loss. Mike and I became friends at Roosevelt Jr. High. We did a history project together. We built the White House. What a disaster. The teacher laughed when he saw it. Gave us a C but A for effort. We said, c'mon, this took us all weekend. He said, It looks like it.

“ I knew Mike for over 40 years. Loved a good joke and great sense of humor. Helped anyone he could always knew so much about fixing anything inside or outside a house and anything to do with cars. Always offered a helping hand. I remember two occasions I came home. Once all my deck furniture had been pushed to the perimeter of my deck. Totally freaked me out. It was him and Jo being funny. We’ve laughed about for years. Another time just a couple years ago; after working ten hours at work coming home in the snow almost dark to find my entire driveway cleared. After wondering who did that asked neighbor who was out he said nope wasn’t him. Mike had driven over with his snowblower and cleared out my driveway. I was so happy after a long day. He was a true blessing. Missing him.
